With Sally

DO YOUR CHRISTMAS SHOPPING EARLY or WHAT HAPPENED TO JOHN

Our Aunt Hepzibah was sitting in the parlor, telling us how she took the Tom-and-Jerry cure for insomnia, when we first began to notice that John was acting queer.

"Yes," she was saying, "nothing helped until I bought some rum from Gelsi's and fresh eggs from Robertson's . . ."

John didn't even look up. He was staring at the floor with a distracted look and mumbling to himself.

"So I turned on my new Zenith from Byrne's," Aunt Hepzibah continued, "and I heard a station in China. That reminded me I needed another Tom-and-Jerry, so I went down into the kitchen, where I found a lovely can of fruit cocktail from Lucca Ravioli . . ."

Our eyes were riveted on John. What could be the matter with him? He wasn't even trying to squeak his new shoes from the American Shoe company. John loves to squeak shoes.

"So I thought the dress was ruined," Aunt Hepzibah went on, "but I remembered to send it to Beeson Cleaners . . . John," she broke off abruptly, "I declare you're looking a little peaked lately. Why don't you get yourself a good meal at the Colonial cafe?"

John turned a pale blue color, like some of the lovely gift handkerchiefs at the Family Dry Goods store, and motioned us into the hall after him.

"Sally," he whispered, wiping his brow with a facial tissue from Milo's Market (17c per box), "there's something I must tell you."

HOW TO DISTRACT the judge and disorganize the jury! Joan Blondell seems to be doing right well along those lines in this interesting moment from Paramount's new comedy-drama "I Want a Divorce." Dick Powell is co-starred with Joan. The film is now playing at the Daly City theatre.

Our heart turned to ice. It felt like the frozen "Polar" foods at Farmer's Market.

"Shoot!" we said grimly. And waited.

We don't mention this very often outside the family, but John has one blue eye and one green eye. Now the both of them were looking at us, brown as chocolate cookies from Geneva Bakery. This further confused us. We could see John was under a strain.

"Nice weather," he strangled suddenly, and without another word bolted down the basement stairs, like demons were after him.

We were so alarmed that we didn't even hear Aunt Hepzibah telling us about the bargains she had found at Vireno's Market. We sat on the edge of our chair and listened to the muffled noises from the basement below. We feared the worst. And then . . .

Suddenly there was a resounding crash, then a strangled gurgle and then silence . . . Silence deep and complete such as falls over the Frozen North. Silence such as when your radio goes dead, and you realize you should have bought a Zenith model from Byrne's.

We tore down the basement stairs with our heart in our mouth and the dust flying all around us. We tripped over the dog and stepped on the cat and upset a box of fresh chocolates from Goodness candies. The chocolates were squashy when we stepped on them, but we plunged ou our way, and so did they.

And there in the basement, a strange sight met our eye. John's face was as purple as canned plums from Westlake Market as he dangled from the ceiling. Behind him was a new pink mattress. Wrapped around his neck was a large red Christmas ribbon from Henry Warshawski.

"John!" we shrieked. "Whatever are you doing?"

He gurgled and waved his arms feebly.

We looked around frantically for a knife. From the way John's blue eye was beginning to match the color of his green one, we knew he was getting mad. But we were doing our best.

We hastily pushed a chair un-

Farmers K. & D. Stock Frozen Foods

A select line of frozen foods has been stocked by Farmers K & D grocery, Elbert "Red" Keithley and Tom Doyle, proprietors of the market, announced today. The housewife can now buy almost any vegetable or fruit out of season. It is almost impossible to tell the difference between the frozen foods and fresh fruits and vegetables, they pointed out.

The foods are scientifically frozen by a new process developed in recent years and remain fresh indefinitely when kept at icebox temperatures. Among the foods now available are: ears of corn, strawberries, peas, sliced peaches and string beans.

Location of Thermostats

Five feet above the floor is considered a generally satisfactory height for the location of thermostats. They should be placed in locations protected from drafts and not in contact with a large volume of air. The rather bulky thermostat of yesteryear has been beautified, and their location today on the living room wall does not mar the decorative scheme.

Wrestler to Africa

Wrestler "Whiskers" Blake, six feet seven inches, thin and wiry, known to Canadian mat fans, arrived in Africa for 14 days, but has stayed there three years because he likes it.

der his feet. John had just drawn one choked gasp of air into his lungs, when we realized with horror that the chair he was standing on was the lovely new chrome one we had bought from Walter Mayer. So we jerked it out again.

This time all John's skin turned a brilliant red, and when we found some old scissors, we were almost afraid to cut him down. He fell with a resounding thud on the pink mattress.

"Ug-lghh-ugg!" he choked in rage.

We tried to put the light touch on it. "Johnny mustn't get upset, it's bad for the digestion. And guess what we're having for supper tonight? Tomato soup from the Cut Rate Market!"

John glared. He was still coughing, like a car does when it grows old and needs to be traded in to Mather Brothers for a really good used car.

"Anyway," we said hurriedly, "we think you have a profile just like John Barrymore at the Daly City theatre tonight. John Barrymore doesn't wrap himself around a pipe with a Christmas ribbon. What were you doing darling? Why can't you ever be like other men?"

John picked himself up from the pink mattress and glared. "It was a Christmas present," he exploded, "from the Daly City Mattress company. I was tying a bow around it."

He stalked toward the stairs with all the dignity of the outraged male. We tried to warn him as he went up the stairs, but it was too late.

Half-way up the stairs, we heard the soft hissing noise as his foot skidded on a squashed chocolate cream.

We heard the little gasp as he lost his balance. We heard the dull thud and crash as he hit the first step. We heard . . . But we don't think the Editor would like us to print what else we heard.

Ocean View Church Extends Invitation

"Come to church and bring your family," is the cordial invitation extended by the Ocean View Community church, 146 Broad street.

"Whatever your age, you will find a group to enjoy at the Community church," officials said today.

Western Duck Sickness

Vanez T. Wilson is one hunter who doesn't take his prizes home with him; he sets them free, reveals the American Magazine. Wilson is head of the Bear River Migratory Bird refuge at Brigham, Utah. He scours the marshes for sick ducks, and every year cures thousands of their most deadly disease—western duck sickness. The plague was brought on when irrigation projects took away too much water.

New Use for Microscope

A new use has been found for the electron microscope, by Drs. Abner Wolf, David Cowen, and Beryl Page of Columbia university. This new super-sharp microscope is able to reveal the exact location, in the cells of glands, muscles, and other tissues, of vital minerals, such as calcium and phosphorus.

Not So Bad

The Melbourne, Australia, government is convinced that traffic and driving instructions offered in a humorous vein are more effective than the usual type. With every driving license now granted is provided a book entitled "Many Happy Returns," containing instructions like the following: "It isn't your fault if all the other road users are completely daft, but it is your fault if you aren't prepared for them to be so."

Cooking Lesson

Left at home to cook his supper while his wife was at the movies, a 28-year-old husband in Prague, Czecho-Slovakia, became so alarmed when the porridge boiled over and filled the kitchen with steam that he rushed to the theater, calling loudly for his mate. The attendants objected to this disturbance of the performance, but the frenzied man threatened them with violence if they interfered. Charged at the police court with disorderly conduct, he was bound over for 12 months.

A SHORT STORY - -

Old John had retired. Yes, he had a rest coming to him after a good life of hard work. But old John wasn't getting much rest. Something seemed to bother him. Well, one day he happened to see in the paper where the Daly City Mattress company could make a comfortable innerspring mattress out of an old one. Old John phoned to have his mattress picked up, and now he gets such a fine sleep every night, he's thinking of going back to work again.
